If Mr. Eible's condition permits, the board will commence work Monday, as it is required to begin by the second Monday in July.

A question has been raised by some as to whether the board is regular. The statute requires that the board be appointed on or before the 1st of June. County Clerk Edward Foutz Wednesday, in response to inquiries, declared that he had no record of any appointments, and his chief clerk, William Daech, efter an examination of the records, made the same records.

In reply to this contention Judge Hills-kotter states that the beard was appoint-ed on May 18 and sworn in at that time, but that he kept the names secret because he found that in past were as secret because he found that in past years as soon as the board was announced the members were approached by persons who wished their taxes altered. To prevent this, he says, he kept the names from the public as long as possible. as possible.

The legal status of the board is a subject of considerable debate at the county

TWO INQUESTS HELD.

In Neither Case Could a Theory of Assault Be Proven.

Deputy Coroner Hoskins held an inquest at Edwardsville yesterday on the death of James M. Gilbert, an Englishman who was found beside the L. & M. tracks in Edwardsville. Before he died Glibert said that he had been robbed of $22, but he became unconscious before he could say how or where. For this reason the examination was conducted along those lines, but no testimony to show assault could be discovered, and a verdict of accident was returned.

Deputy Coroner Schlidman of Verlagers be discovered, and a verdict of accident was returned.

Deputy Coroner Schildman of Venice held an inquest over the body of James McCauley, a section employe on the Wabash, at Nameoki. McCauley's body was found between the double tracks south of Mitchell. A cut across the face which appeared to have been made by a knife and a wound in the skull were the causes of death. In this case, as in the other, death appeared to be due either to assault or accident, the fact of there having been a picnic in the neighborhood the night before lending color to the former theory. No direct testimony was obtainable.

CHANGES IN COUNTY ROADS.

Transit Company Said to Have Control of St. L., St. C. & W.

Pollowing the resignation of J. D. Houseman, general manager of the St. Louis, St. Charies and Western road, which was announced in yesterday's Republic, it is reported that the St. Louis Transit Company has gained control of that company.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the county line Wednesday, Joseph Dickson was elected a member of the board, and R. W. Gray was chosen to succeed Mr. Houseman. Mr. Dickson is the representative of those who recently bought the holdings of J. B. C. Lucas, which amounts to five-twelfths of the capital stock. J. J. Broderick and Houseman still retain seven-twelfths of the stock. Houseman will give his time in the future to the welfare of other business interests.

haser against any loss, if for some reason beyond its control it is unable to turn over the building to him at the end of the Fair. George N. Kingsbury, the Executive Commissioner for Rhode Island, declined to divulge the name of the purchaser of the building or any of the details concerning the sale. "I prefer that the person to whom we have sold the building should give this information himself, said Mr. Kingsbury. The purchase price is in four figures, and besides the building all of the draperles and portieres plumbing not in sight-in fact, everything except the furniture, rugs, bathroom fixtures and chandellers-are included in the "Negotiations for the purchase of the building were begun in November last," continued Mr. Kingsbury, "when the man called upon the commission at Providence and expressed a desire to buy the Rhode Island State building at the close of the Exposition. He stated that his object was to remove it to his country place, some eight or nine miles from St. Louis. While the building and its furnishings cost $25,000, we feel that we have made a good trade, as, aside from a monetary consideration, it is gratifying to know that the building will remain in its present state, and not, like an old horse, go to the honeyard."

The Rhode Island building is one of the most admired of all in the Plateau of States. It is a replica of an old country home which was erected in 1814 at Lincoln by an old bachelor named Smith.

Virginla's Commissioner claims that the megaphone spicler of "The Old Virginia Homestead," a concession just opposite the payllion of the "Old Dominion," is endeavoring to create the impression that it is the Virginia building.

At the meeting Wednesday the grievances of the Commissioners were aired. One man is so sacrifications as to object to the two-man band at Jerusalem. Another Commissioner objects to the beer wagons stopping in front of his State building for several hours every night, until their drivers can settle their arguments.

The David S. "I am very much impressed with the Fair," said Senator Mantie. "It is a magnificent Exposition, and the only fault I can possibly find is its size; it is so immense that I cannot get over it. The Montana Commissioners are very much pleased with the showing our State has made with the funds at our command, and especially proud are we with the exhibit in the Mines and Metallurgy building. The Montana building is homelike in its appearance, and the people of Montana, who have visited the Exposition, express themselves as being delighted with our State payllon."
